洞洞里的世界 (全4册) World in the Holes Series (4 Vol.s)

This book is designed for baby from 0 to 3 years old. The children's mental development and living ability are developed from the exploration and practice with their hands. The strong hands-on ability indicates that the baby is in the crucial development period of small and tiny actions. They are exploring what on earth there in that hole. Therefore, it is very important to train the fine movements of their hands. These interesting holes of different shapes can stimulate the babies to poke with their hands and let the babies interact with the book through games, thus nurturing the development of the baby's antennal nerve and enriching their cognition towards numbers, letters, things and animals. The words of full children's interesting and rhythmic charm can make the babies feel the charm of language and words when receiving the training on sense of touching, cultivate the children's sensitivity to words and develop the children's cognitive ability to words and sentences. This series of "holes" provides the parents and babies with brand new "hole type" reading form and will bring endless fun to the parent-child reading.
